Loyalty . . . Helpfulness . . . Humor

Loyalty—helpfulness—humor—these are the outstanding characteristics of William Leo Shields, our class advisor, to whom we, the Class of 1958, dedicate this yearbook. Without his ever-present help throughout our high school years, we could not have reached the top of the ladder. Always willing to aid us with our projects, always ready with suggestions—he has helped to make our class prosperous and successful. For his drive and ambition to make us more adult—we are grateful.

As Scheherezade told her thousand and one tales to the Sultan, so have we told ours to you in this Arabian Nights edition of the Barnacle. Here we have preserved every important happening—from our first big dance to our senior play.

“Open, Sesame” was the command to enter the cave of treasures. Here, it is the password to open our yearbook and to view the wealth of the past years.

PETER FIELD AND MR. SHIELDS

As members of the Class of 1958 we have been privileged to be the first class to graduate from the new high school. Here we see our class president, Peter Field, and our class advisor, Mr. Leo Shields, who have organized and carried out many plans throughout the year; and members of our class talking with Dr. Carl F. Schultz, Chairman of the Barnstable School Committee about school affairs.

MR. HARVARD H. BROADBENT

My heartiest congratulations go to the members of the Class of 1958 upon their graduation from Barnstable High School!

To some members of the class, it means an end to formal education; to others, it is the beginning of higher education. But to both groups, we urge a continuation of education whether it be in or out of school.

The means whereby one may secure an education have been given to all. The use and improvement of the abilities developed in Barnstable High School depends on each individual member of the class.

Not only is it important to you as an individual to continue to develop your abilities, but it is also essential at this particular time in the history of our country that each individual attain his maximum potentiality in order that our way of life may survive.

We have the greatest of confidence in you and sincerely believe that you will live up to our expectations.

Harvard H. Broadbent

ADMINISTRATION

...and May Your Future Ever Be Bright

You have now reached the goal you have been working toward since you started your formal education, twelve or more years ago. It represents a milestone in your lives; and many of you, a few years hence, will come to the realization that these past four years were the most care-free and happy you have known.

In an age of supersonics and outer space speculations, additional emphasis is being given to the traditional ideal of high education. The possibilities of learning from life itself must not be overlooked. Our hope is to have challenged and stimulated your interests and talents, and thus enabled you to see the opportunities for learning all around you.

To the Class of 1958, the first class to graduate from the new Barnstable High School, good luck; and may your future ever be bright.

Briah K. Connor

To say that one person has been a guiding hand, an inspiration, and an understanding advisor, would represent what Mrs. Catherine D. Towey, our yearbook advisor, has been to us. Her kindness, patience, and cheerfulness have always encouraged us, and we, the Class of 1958, wish to thank her for her unselfish helpfulness, and her unsparing generosity with her time.

MRS. CATHERINE D. TOWEY

MR. BRIAH K. CONNOR

As Director of Curriculum, Mr. Frederick M. Hodge has shown his understanding of young people and his constant interest in their activities. He has been an excellent advisor through all our high school years—an unfailing leader, a wise counsellor. We, the class of 1958, wish to thank him for being a patient listener and close friend to all of us.

SENIORS

"The pleasures we enjoyed had charms enough to make us forget all the troubles and calamities we had undergone."

The Treasure of Ali Baba

"The sight which met Ali Baba made him gasp with wonder and amazement. He had found the treasure hoard the forty thieves had amassed over a period of many years."

It has been said that in the deep forests of Persia a vast treasure is kept in a dark, mysterious cave. Diamonds, rubies, emeralds, and gold have been hidden in this gloomy cavern for thousands of years. Six years ago, as we entered the doors of Barnstable High School, we all knew the story of Ali Baba and his experience with the forty thieves who guarded the treasure cave. The riches of a thousand centuries had been his when he spoke the magic words which opened the door of the cave. We were eager to receive our share of all this treasure, but we were somewhat uncertain of what lay ahead.

In September, 1952, we cautiously approached the door of the cave and timidly spoke the fateful words, "Open Sesame!" The door opened, and we were amazed by the vast treasure which we found inside. The older students had been taking the treasures of knowledge and good times for a long time, but we had to be content with our share. We were allowed to join only the band and orchestra.

In the eighth grade we organized our own den, the '58 Club. Our advisor was Mr. James Sykes, and under his direction we put on the Sadie Hawkins Dance. This was our first raid, and we were commended for such clever work. Five members of our class were chosen as junior cheerleaders. They were Carolyn Hallett, Carolyn Murphy, Gail Phillips, Velma Robinson, and Lee Shields.

The next year, because of the promise we had shown in the past, we were permitted to choose our courses, join the Traffic Squad and Junior Varsity teams, and take the Iowa tests. Our class officers were Mark Niles, president; Deborah Bearse, vice-president; Beverly Skende, secretary; and Judith Soares, treasurer. Mr. Charles Howes was our advisor, and with his help we put on the Freshman Frolic. We also chose Carolyn Murphy and Peter Field as Ship's Belle and Ship's Buoy. We ended the year with a picnic at Sandy Neck.

When we entered the tenth grade, we were finally accepted as part of the senior high. Mr. W. Leo Shields was our advisor, and our class officers were Peter Field, president; Carolyn Murphy, vice-president; Beverly Skende, secretary; and Judith Soares, treasurer. Sophomore Class members in the Student Council were Carolyn Murphy and Barry Crawford.

That year the National Honor Society had five sophomore members. They were Barbara DeMoranville, Leslie Haskins, Charleen Johnson, Patricia Johnson, and Beverly Skende. Five members of our class played Varsity Football for the first time.

During the year the Key Club and the Chess Club were formed. Two of our class projects were the Christmas Frolic, and a cake sale. Saint Patrick's Day was the theme of the Sophomore Hop, ruled by our king and queen, Barry Crawford and Carolyn Murphy. Carolyn was once again chosen as Ship's Belle.

In our junior year, one of the most thrilling experiences of all was the day we received our class rings. Our class officers were Peter Field, president; Donald Richards, vice president; Beverly Skende, secretary; and Judith Soares, treasurer. We elected Carolyn Murphy, Barry Crawford, and Jayne Hayden to the Student Council. The three juniors who were inducted into the National Honor Society were Marcia Vieira, Daniel Leach, and Irwin Rovner.

The biggest event of the year was the Junior Prom. The auditorium was decorated beautifully to carry out our theme "Shades of Rhythm." Music was by Bob Adams' orchestra. Our queen was Carolyn Murphy. She was attended by Carolyn Hallet, Velma Robinson, Lee Shields, and Beverly Skende. The committee chairmen were Anne Cross and Paul White, decorations; Dennis Bisbee and Velma Robinson, tickets; Josephine Riedell and Judith Carlson, refreshments; Jayne Hayden and Elizabeth Woodland, posters; and Patricia Crosby and Carolyn Hallett, orchestra.

Robert Lebel and John Ireland were elected to Boys' State, while Charleen Johnson was chosen to attend Girls' State. Since Charleen was unable to attend, she was replaced by Beverly Skende.

Other projects included our dance, "Stranded in the Jungle," and a cake sale which we sponsored at the end of the year. Alice Howes was chosen as Ship's Belle that year. In June, Donald Richards was elected president of the Key Club. Irwin Rovner was appointed as Chief Marshal of the Traffic Squad at the end of the year. His Floor Marshals were Deborah Bearse, Barbara DeMoranville, and Peter Field.

Our junior year was saddened by the death of one of our most beloved teachers, Miss M. Charlotte Mahoney. So great was Miss Mahoney's influence over all of us that we chose the quotation that so closely paralleled her own life as our class motto the following year.

"I shall pass through this world but once. If therefore there be any kindness I can show, or any good thing I can do, let me do it now; for I shall not pass this way again."

September 5, 1957 was a memorable day for everyone, especially our class; for we had moved to the new high school, and now we were on top. There were new activities, too. The French Club, under the supervision of Miss Amelia Leconte, was formed; and the Pep Squad, with Mr. Franklin Converse as advisor, was organized to promote school spirit. The Raid-ius, written by the members of the new journalism class taught by Mrs. Catherine Towey, appeared weekly in the Barnstable Patriot.

In order to raise money we sold football programs, book covers, pins, and shakers; ran the football concession at home games; and conducted a magazine campaign under the direction of Miss M. Louise Hayden. The class also sponsored the first dance held in the new school, the "Inaugural Ball."

Our class officers were Peter Field, president; Robert Lebel, vice president; Beverly Skende, secretary; and Judith Soares, treasurer. Student Council members included Jayne Hayden, Anne Cross, Alice Howes, and Michael McDonough. The class elected Irwin Rovner as editor-in-chief of the Barnacle and Barbara DeMoranville as assistant editor. The "Platter Party" on WOCB was conducted by Anne Cross, Jayne Hayden, Carolyn Murphy, Bruce Childs and Paul White.

Now that we have absorbed the riches which were ours for the taking, we are forced to find new treasure elsewhere. We must strive to increase our knowledge at college, at work, or in married life as the door closes behind us.

SENIOR CLASS

FREDERICK PETER FIELD

"Seest thou a man diligent in his business? He shall stand ahead of other men."

Mix a blond crew cut, hazel eyes, and 5' 11" of man, with an ability to get things done. Now add four years of outstanding marks. And out comes Peter Field, our versatile class president! Pete has held the presidency for three years and, as would be expected, he is usually found hustling around the corridors doing odd jobs for the class. Besides being class president, Pete is the star quarterback on our football team, the left field ace on the baseball team, and the tall left forward on the basketball team. And speaking of versatile, Pete is also a classy dresser, as seen each Thursday when he represents Barnstable High School as Junior Rotarian. A charter member of the Key Club, he also has shown his willingness here. That "P" in Peter's name isn't just an ordinary "P"—it represents two of his fine characteristics: a fine personality and outstanding perseverance.

"I like to draw better than anything."

As Laurel says, she is always close to horses. Not only does she manage a horse of her own, but she also belongs to the Rough Riders Club. Laurel's favorite indoor pastime is drawing. She has displayed her excellent talent in many places throughout the school. Laurel prefers to draw horses, and to use pen and ink drawings as a media, but she also enjoys portrait sketching and sculpture. For the past two years, Laurel has contributed to the success of the Barnacle by her clever illustrations and sketches.

Who would be surprised to learn that she wants to attend art school?

Mary has a great interest in art—especially in her charcoal portraits which have adorned the display windows and halls of the school. Along with this hobby, she enjoys tennis, swimming, skating, and playing the piano.

Most everyone knows Fran, for he enjoys dancing and listening to music at any party. He is always willing to lend a hand, and has contributed toward the success of the concession stands at the football and basketball games. Upon graduating, Fran plans to enter the Air Force.

Elsie's outside interests include acting as president of the G-Clefs Fan Club and participating in sports. Basketball, her favorite, is the one which she plays whenever possible. Interested in travel, and eager for new experiences, Elsie hopes to work in New York City as a telephone operator.

JOHN ROSS ANDERSON

"Whose body lodg'd a mighty mind."

If you have heard "very good" spoken around school, it could very well be Ross, uttering his favorite expression and motto. Ross has always obtained good grades as an outstanding member of the college course, excelling in both math and science. Upon graduating, he wishes to study engineering.

Besides being a scholar, Ross has many interesting hobbies. For instance—he has rare and unusual stamps and coins in his collections. His main interest, however, is in the short wave transmitter which he has constructed. Having secured his "ham" operator's license, Ross has contacted places as far away as South Africa and Europe. Because he is outstanding in soccer, he was voted a member of the All-Cape Soccer Team.

PAUL LESLIE ANDERSON

"Sing away sorrow, cast away care"

Known to many as Andy, Paul is an outstanding member of the industrial arts course. Because his special interest is working on cars, Andy spends a great deal of his time experimenting with car parts and with his own Oldsmobile. Besides using his ability in school, Paul also works in a local garage after school hours. Tall and slim, Paul is an ardent sports fan—especially of basketball. Although he did not play on the school team, he did participate in intramural games. Another interest of Andy's is boats, and because of this, he plans to join the Navy. Anchors aweigh my boy! Happy sailing!

'58 Club 1.

BARBARA ANNE BAKER

"And her face so fair, Stirr'd with her dream, as rose-leaves with the air."

Blonde hair, quiet blue eyes, and a warm and penetrating smile make up the girl we know as Barb. An ardent sports fan, Barb participates in several—among her favorites are bowling and basketball.

Calm, reserved, and undemonstrative in school, Barb can be the life of any party on the outside. Along with enjoying fun, Barb also works hard—both to earn good grades and to be an efficient cashier at the First National. Barb plans to continue her work there and to get married in the near future.

DEBORAH ANN BEARSE

"Meanwhile friend of the great, and lover of letters."

Full of vim and vigor, Debby, also known as "Pearce," is the possessor of a strange hobby and is a prominent member of the 4-H Club. Enjoying dancing, reading, and listening to music, Debby also takes pleasure in sports, such as tennis, basketball, sailing, chopping wood, and just in being in the out-of-doors. Debby's unusual hobbies are collecting and experimenting with biological specimens. From this interest stems her desire to study one of the sciences.

As an outstanding member of the 4-H Club, Debby has earned numerous awards in cooking, sewing, and gardening, as well as in raising sheep and pigs.

If you can't see Donnie, you can hear him roaring into school with the unmistakable sound of his '50 Ford. Besides his car, Donnie has another love—dancing. His favorites are the bop and the calypso, but he also enjoys the many standard dances. Donnie is popular with all his classmates because of his friendliness and amiability. She has taken the general course these past four years and is not sure of her future plans.

DENNIS ORRIN BISBEE

"The better part of valour is discretion."

Wiry Dennis is well known as one of our class dancers. A master of the bop, just give him any rock 'n' roll record and he will make the most of it. Dennis has talent in his hands as well as his feet, for he is an excellent artist. It would seem as if our Dennis' talents were never ending because he also has a beautiful singing voice. Dancing, drawing, and singing—who could help but become successful with all of these accomplishments?

JOAN MARIE BOTELLO

Joanie proves well the theory that one does not have to be noisy or outspoken to be well known and liked. She is a very popular figure in our class . . . especially at the games when she is all decked out in red, cheering for the Raiders. Joan has all the attributes of a business woman, and recognizing these, she has taken the business course through high school and plans to become a medical secretary after graduation.

Irene, who entered our class in our junior year, has been an asset to us in many ways. Always full of energy, she has been willing to help in any of our projects. Perhaps you would recognize her most easily at a field hockey, basketball, or softball game, for Irene plays these sports very well. Irene hopes to enter Massachusetts General Hospital to study nursing after graduation. With her soft voice and pretty southern accent, she certainly will boost the patients' morale by just talking with them.

A helpful and industrious member of the business course, she has worked for us on the business staff of the Barnacle. Jan has an endless variety of clothes and, what's more, with her slender figure, she has the ability to wear them. All sports are a great favorite with her, especially bowling and ice skating. When Roberta came to us last year from Brockton, little did we realize what outstanding talent had been bestowed upon us. Bright as a shiny new penny, Bobby has stood out as an honor student all through high school. She has justified her talents as a clarinetist in the band and orchestra, and as a soprano in the chorus. Roberta's bright, gay personality is the envy of all, for it adds the sunshine to a cloudy day. With her academic achievements as outstanding as they have been, she will be an asset to any college.

All these characteristics are prominent in Linda. After graduating from high school, she plans to become a model. With her shining blond hair and blue eyes, she makes a pattern of prettiness. She likes the dignified things in life, but she is also a contributor to many active school groups, such as the girls' basketball team. PATRICIA ELLEN CROSBY "Rhythm" should be Pat's middle name, for she is a top-notch participant in every activity concerned with music. Rhythm is outstanding again in her dancing as she is a master of both the jitterbug and the waltz. Pat is musical, too, as a mellow alto in the chorus. Originality is her trademark—notice her cat-shaped black glasses! With this abundant supply of rhythm and that dash of Crosby cleverness, who could have any doubt as to Pat's future?

And such a willing soul has she! Anne volunteers for an overwhelming amount of activities, yet she has been a top honor student all through high school. Bob gets his experience with this type of work in the summer when he drives a truck and tractor doing various types of landscape gardening. The star of the journalism class, Carolyn shines with a clever, snappy style which she displays so well in her articles for the Raid-iis. Clever, too, is her style in clothes: she has the ability to dress strikingly, yet conservatively. As a music enthusiast Carolyn is also outstanding. She is a member of the Chorus and the Girls' A Cappella Chorus, as well as the pianist for several occasions in the orchestra. She has justified her efficiency and drive as a Worthy Advisor in the Order of Rainbow for Girls. Lindy has cleverness, style, ability, and originality. ### JOHN ROBERT SWEENEY

"Man is the measure of all things."

The senior year was nearly half over when John came to B.H.S. With him he brought a pleasing personality and a sincere interest in other people. John, who formerly attended military school, holds himself as straight and erect as a West Point cadet. With his dark wavy hair and perfect manners, it did not take him long to get acquainted and win a countless number of friends. Johnny's main interests include sports and collecting records. His future plans indicate a college career.

FRANCES JOYCE SWIFT

"With malice toward none; with charity for all."

Are you in need of a friend who will listen to your troubles and give you sympathetic understanding? Frannie is just the one to call on. A deep concern and sincere interest in other people are the qualities that make her such a wonderful friend. There is a remarkable display of unselfishness and sincerity in everything she does. Frannie likes people and is genuinely interested in them. These fine qualities are most essential in the nursing career that Frannie plans to follow.

JAMES ELIAS TERPOS

"Charms strike the sight, and merit wins the soul."

Jimmy, one of the best dressed boys in the class, is also clothed in an enviable air of calmness and composure. Jim's natural artistic ability has often been put to use on various decoration committees. He is interested in social studies and in his stamp collection, but his greatest love is soccer. On the field Jim is an excellent player and seems to have a natural ability for the game. His future plans include a college education.

Basketball 1,2; Soccer 3,4; Track 3,4; Intramural Tennis 3; Junior Varsity Baseball 1; Junior Varsity Football 1; '58 Club 1; Chorus 4; Junior Prom Committee 3.

GEORGE WILLIAM THEW

"Humor is the harmony of the heart."

George, a tall, slim boy who is noted for his faultless rhythm, is one of the best dancers in our class. He is the master of all types of dancing from the jitterbug and rock 'n' roll to the foxtrot and the waltz. George also enjoys listening to his fine record collection. His modest manner is the biggest factor in helping him win and keep many friends.

Soccer 3,4; '58 Club 1.

PATRICIA MARY TOBIN

"Nothing is so strong as gentleness, Nothing so gentle as real strength."

Soft-spoken Pat creates an impression of honesty and sincerity upon all who know her. In spite of her gentle voice and quiet ways, Pat defends her beliefs whenever they are challenged. Pat, who ranks high scholastically in our class, is an avid sports enthusiast with interests ranging from basketball and bowling to swimming and skating. Pat can always be found where there is laughter and fun. Her enjoyable personality has won her many friends. She plans to major in political science at college.

FRANCIS WILLIAM TWITCHELL

"He possessed a peculiar talent of producing effect in whatever he said or did."

What would the boat shop have ever done without the presence of Twitch? His humor and zip are a part of his likeable personality. Twitch's modeling ability has aided him greatly in his boat building trade. In his spare time he likes to make airplane and ship models, and his collection of this handicraft is amazing. Fran spends many hours painting land and seascapes of the Cape. With his patience and get-up-and-go why shouldn't Fran make a go of it next year?

behind us our happiest years—

MARCIA GLORIA VIEIRA

"It comes as serenity and grandeur."

Marcia is a sweet little girl whom one sees but never hears. She always appears to be calm and serene. She has a competent and business-like mind behind those dark-rimmed glasses. Marcia has had no trouble getting excellent grades as a business course student, and she can type and take shorthand as well as any secretary. Reading is her hobby—"anything I can lay my hands on," she says. Marcia hopes to attend a secretarial school.

Honor Society 3,4; Barnacle Staff 4.

DAVID ANTHONY WHITE

"Happy as a sunny day."

Look for a mammoth smile, and behind it you will surely find Dave. Who can top his famous grin? A member of the carpentry course, Dave enjoys woodworking and modeling; but his favorite activity, and one in which he is most accomplished, is drawing. He is no novice in the art of auto-mechanics, and can often be found tinkering with a car. Dave would like to further his education, with civil engineering as his goal.

Football 2; '58 Club 1.

PAUL JOSEPH WHITE

"A mountain of strength and friendliness."

Take over six feet of masculinity, add a pinch of subtle wit plus some superb athletic ability, and what do you have? Paul White. Chosen co-captain of the football team this year, Whitey has been a keystone on the team throughout high school. He enjoys all sports, especially water sports. He is also noted for his drawing. Paul, an active Key Clubber, has been a member of nearly all of the class committees. He plans a naval career, beginning at the Massachusetts Maritime Academy.

Football 1,2,3,4; co-captain 4; Key Club 3,4; Vice-president 4; Junior Prom Committee; Sophomore Hop Committee; Freshman Frolic Committee.

VICTOR JOHN WIINKAINEN

"Whatever is worth doing at all, is worth doing well."

If you should happen to be down in the carpentry shop and run across a quiet fellow with a ready smile and a subtle wit, chances are it will be Vic. As first string half-back on the soccer team and first baseman on the baseball team, Vic has shown his athletic prowess. A typical West Barnstable sportsman, he spends much of his time hunting and fishing. Vic likes to hunt everything and ask him to tell you one of his fish stories.

Baseball 2,3; Soccer 4.

those at Barnstable High School.

ELIZABETH WOODLAND

"A witty woman is a treasure; a witty beauty is a power."

Betty, that lively blond with the sparkling smile, plans to teach "little ones" after college. She is an avid fan of horseback riding, and is especially proficient in that sport. Drawing comes naturally to Betty—her specialty being animal sketches. Noted for her charm, wit, and friendliness, she always greets us with a gay "hello". An active member of the newly-formed French Club, she has served on its program committee this year.

Clipper 2,3; Junior Prom Committee; French Club 4; Sophomore Hop Committee; '58 Club; Dramatic Club 4; Pep Club 4; Junior Red Cross; Barnacle.

MAUREEN JO ANN WOODRUFF

"I have no mockings or arguments; I witness and wait."

Barnstable's answer to "Little Mo" Connelly is found in one Maureen Woodruff. Punch, who is famed for her tennis ability, spends much of her spare time perfecting this, her favorite activity. Tennis is not her only accomplishment, however, for she enjoys skating, swimming, and playing basketball. An active member of Cenacle, Maureen devotes many hours to church activities. Although she is one of Barnstable's more reserved gals, her quietness, which adds to her charm, has won her many friends.

Barnacle 4; Softball 2; Bowling 4.

DONALD JOHN WYMAN

"As good-natured a soul as e'er trod on shoe of leather."

To all who know him, Chunky is a friend—considerate and pleasant—fun to be with and good for a laugh. A fellow of many interests, he can very often be found under the hood of a car, taking apart an outboard motor, or racing a boat. In the summer, Chunky regularly water skis and swims, while winter months are sprinkled with games of his favorite sport—ice hockey.

The Magic Carpet of The Sultan

"Up they rose, far into the clouds, flying through the air at tremendous speed."

We, Jessica, Karen, Maija, and Carolyn, in the year 1978, have been designated by the Genie to fly our magic carpet around the world in order that we may see what our former classmates have been up to.

Off to our right the clouds part, and we see Duncan Smith zooming by in his rocket the "Smithnik" on his way to the moon.

Our magic carpet is equipped with a radio, and Duncan tells us that he has just taken off from Leach's proving grounds in Marstons Mills, where Ross Anderson, Earle Chase, and Dan Leach, inventors of the "Smithnik's" fuel, are waiting to hear the outcome of Duncan's expedition.

As we descend toward Cape Cod we decide we are hungry, so we stop in at our old haunt . . . Turner's . . . which is now owned and operated by Bill Hamblin. Shirley Jackson, Helen Higgins, and Jeanne LaPlante are doing a fine job as waitresses there.

Bob Cross, Randy Johnson, Walter Hundertmark, and George Kalweit stop in while we are at Turner's and tell us that they are co-owners of the Cape Cod Landscape Service, and have just finished landscaping the beautiful summer home of the famous artist Josephine Riedell, who is illustrating Dorothy Dolan's latest novel.

Next door to Turner's is one of Dorothy MacDonald's beauty salons . . . this one managed by Linda Roderick. Dorothy's other salons are run by Alice Beaumont, Judy Soares, Carolyn Duarte, and Theresa Shiverick.

In the salon we renew acquaintance with Mary Sue Rivers, superintendent of the Cape Cod elementary schools, who tells us that our old friend Carolyn Murphy, Miss America of 1960, now has her own T.V. show produced and directed by Bruce Childs. On the show Velma Robinson, Ann Marie Pooler, and Ellen Keiser model fashions designed by Mary Aikens. Miss Aikens' designs are also featured at Saks Fifth Avenue which is run by Edna Dewey.

The Magic Carpet of The Sultan

Outside we hear a crash, and then the tinkle of glass. Turning around we see George Thew (up to his old tricks) just climbing out of his high powered sports car. We recall the time back in 1957 when George paid a similar visit to Mr. Turner. He seems unhurt and comes over to tell us about his chain of repair garages located all across the country, and we find that three of our classmates . . . Paul Murphy, Michael Santos, and Don Wyman, are assisting George with his business.

We decide to go to New York City by way of Boston. As we fly over Fenway Park, we hear the crowd wildly cheering Leonard Rogers of the Red Sox, as he wins the game with a home run. Then they cheer Victor Wiinikainen for pitching his sixteenth no-hitter of the season.

We've learned that several of our former classmates are working at Massachusetts General Hospital, so we decide to fly over and see them. We find Marcia Vieira at the main desk, and she tells us that Peter Field is the head surgeon at the hospital and has just performed a life-saving operation. He was assisted by Roberta Cohen and Lois Mandelstam. Other nurses at the hospital are Irene Boykin, chief therapist; Ann Lovell, head of the Children's Department; and Frances Swift, Director of Nursing.

As we take off from the hospital, we pass a few more of the old gang in a Trans World jetstream airliner. Captain Nicki Niles heads his crew of three . . . Albert Howe, co-pilot; Barbara Doherty and Joan Botello, hostesses. Looking in the windows we can see among the passengers Nancy Hall, Cormac Dillon, and Irwin Rovner. We've read in the newspapers about a summit conference in Cairo, and we suspect that is where our trio of famous statesmen is headed.

Arriving in New York, we park our carpet and take a cab to Madison Square Garden where Laurel Adams and Carol Clough are performing in the 1978 World Rodeo. During intermission, the General Manager of the Garden, James Terpos, reminds the audience of next week's attraction . . . the 50th Annual Sports Car Rallye featuring Barbara Lane and Joan Hansberry. We know, of course, that Francis Alexandre and Paul Anderson are Barbara and Joan's mechanics.

From the Garden we go down to the United Nations and take a guided tour which takes us to a conference between the United States Ambassador, Patricia Johnson, and the Spanish Ambassador. Elsie Amado is Miss Johnson's interpreter.

Leaving the U.N., we decide to stop in at the Madison Avenue office of Maija's agent, Donald Bearse, to check on the opening date of Maija's new play. Donnie says he has a surprise for us so we all head for Birdland . . . and who should be there but Pete Byers and his band.

Pete takes us all backstage after his performance, and there we renew more friendships with Peter肯neally, Pete's agent, and Gerry Lopes, the top blues singer of the day.

After saying goodby to our friends, we head south, stopping in Washington, D. C. to pay a visit to Leslie Haskins, Secretary of State, and her assistant, Charleen Johnson.

Still farther south . . . in Florida . . . we stop at Cypress Gardens where Karen is signed up for another water skiing engagement after we finish our tour. We forgot to mention that Karen is the world's champion water skier.

Flying over Pensacola Naval Air Base, we duck our heads as Gordon Libbey and Charlie Georgales take off in a supersonic jet. Following them, we find ourselves heading northward. As we sail over the blue grass of Kentucky, we drop in at the Woodland Farms . . . Betty Woodland's thoroughbred horse breeding and training farm. Louise Michelson and Susan Leach are out training two of Betty's newest colts. David Rudden goes galloping by . . . he's Betty's top jockey.

Heading west, we stop off at Sun Valley, Idaho where Don Richards and Bob Lebel are running a resort hotel. Over on one of the skating rinks Alice Howes is giving a few pointers to a trio of redheads . . . Judy Carlson, on vacation from her job buying for Bonwit Teller; Bob Peterson, on leave from the Air Force; and June Crocker. June tells us that she is working as Adrienne Skinner's personal secretary. Adrienne has just finished her latest motion picture, and is on her way to Europe to begin another. June will join her in a few weeks.

Also on vacation is Doctor John Ireland, head of one of New York's leading medical centers.

We say goodbye to our friends and fly toward the Pacific, landing on the Hawaiian Islands. One of the largest hotels at Waikiki Beach is owned by Dennis Sullivan. We spend the night at the hotel, and the next day on the beach we find more of our famous pals. Judy Mcclusky, radio and T.V. star is entertaining Maureen Woodruff, ex-tennis champion; Pat Houle and Pauline Peters, star members of the Olympic Team; and Helen Ryder, Homemaker of the Year.

All of a sudden, out of the water pops a submarine with Paul White at the helm. Paul expects to become an admiral in a few weeks and is training David Botello to take his place.

Leaving Hawaii, we head out over the Pacific again . . . taking a long ride through the clouds to Africa . . . where we find Debby Bearse and Barbara DeMoranville, medical missionaries, in the middle of a dense jungle.

Debby and Barbara have started a hospital in the jungle . . . and Lee Shields and Sally Daniels are their nurses.

From Africa we head toward the Riviera and stop at McDonough's Sport Shop . . . Michael McDonough's that is . . . where Carolyn takes some fashion notes to send back to two of her writers . . . Anne Cross and Jayne Hayden. Carolyn is now the editor of Vogue.

We stop for dinner in Cannes at a night club where Dennis Bisbee is appearing. Dennis sings a few numbers and then joins our party. Glancing around the dining room we see still more of our friends . . . Gail Phillips and Jack Sweeney. They come over to our table and tell us that Jack is a leading fashion photographer in Europe and Gail is one of his top models.

The next morning we meet Jack at his studio . . . and still another old classmate turns up . . . Janet Coggesshall, Jack's receptionist.

Around the world is our motto, so we head toward England, with a stopover in Paris. Our tour of the city leads us to the Sorbonne where Patricia Crosby is teaching French, and Madge Converse is teaching Physics.

At the top of the Eiffel Tower we find Barbara Baker, Anne Elliott, Maryellen Jones, and Corrine Montcalm . . . four gals who have become officers in the Women's Air Force. Speaking of the Air Force . . . they tell us that Kathy O'Brien is holding down the home fort as president of the Officers' Wives Club at Otis.

On across the English Channel we fly . . . landing near the American Embassy in London where Patricia Tobin, our ambassador, and her secretary, Janet Larivee, have their headquarters.

Naturally, ambassadors have bodyguards, and Pat's turn out to be Francis Twitchell and David White.

Pat's chaffeur, Joseph Santry, drives us all to the airport where we meet Gwen Phillips, Linda Cotell, and Diane Perry, three of our senators who are on a good-will tour of Britain.

We ask them what's been happening since we left, and they say not much except that Beverly Skende is in the middle of her campaign . . . she's running for President . . . and Bertha DeGrace, Carole Kearney, and Lillian Kelley have just been elected to the Barnstable School Committee.

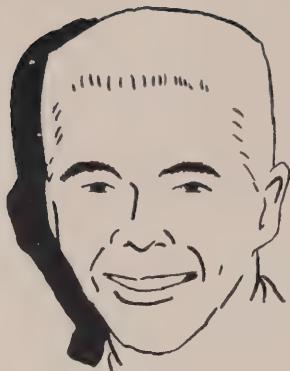

We count up the number of names on our list and find that all have been accounted for except one . . . Jessica McEvoy.

"I'm right here," she says, "and let's go home because I'm lonesome for my six children!"

are leaders and key citizens of the school. By serving the school and community, members develop initiative and leadership and prepare for useful citizenship.

National Honor Society

Admission to the National Honor Society is a marked distinction for a student. Qualifications for membership are difficult. Scholastically, a student must receive a grade of A in 75 per cent of his subjects from the ninth grade on, with a grade of B in the others.

A student who has had only one C in grades nine through twelve may be admitted in his senior year. In addition to Scholarship, admission is also based on Character, Leadership, and Service. The faculty advisor is Mr. John J. Kilcoyne.

Student Council

Leadership was vigorous in this year's Student Council. Many improvements were set up by the group: music in the cafeterias, a suggestion box provided, and assemblies, held in town meeting style, gave the student body a chance to express their own ideas and viewpoints. Mr. John J. Kilcoyne, the faculty advisor, led the group with the same expertness he shows in everything.

BARNACLE LITERARY STAFF

Mrs. Towey with editors Barbara and Irwin.

These royal subjects of the East have prepared these Thousand and One Tales of Arabian Nights. The literary staff has worked to write the manuscripts, calling upon their mystic minds to bring up the spirits of past memories and searching the halls of castles and palaces to find the highlights of the past. They have recorded the present and have asked the stars to foretell the future. The typing staff has transcribed the words with speed and dexterity. They have completed a task for which the only reward is the knowledge that they have given immeasurable service. The royal artists have used their skills to brush a living picture of the East. The advertising staff has sought out the merchants of the realm to complete the cycle of tasks.

Look to the East and know those who have made these tales!

Dramatic Club

OFFICERS

A. Skinner, M. Robbins, P. Byers, J. Arlington

The Dramatic Club is another new organization in Barnstable High School. Formed this year by a few interested students, the group has elected officers, held regular meetings, and participated in the New England Drama Festival. We are proud of this hard-working and energetic group.

The Senior Class play, "Tiger House", a mystery comedy in three acts by Robert St. Clair, was cast by members of the Barnstable Comedy Club and directed by Mr. Elliott B. Mac Swan.

Members of the cast were Adrienne Skinner, Jayne Hayden, Anne Cross, Alice Howes, Judith McClusky, Peter Field, Bruce Childs, Donald Richards, Donald Bearse, and Dennis Sullivan.

While the class play was open to members of the Senior Class only, the newly formed Dramatic Club also put on three plays this year. Membership in the Dramatic Club was open to students in grades nine, ten, eleven, and twelve.

Orchestra

Under the capable direction of Simon Gesin the orchestra has played in many of our school programs this year. Although a small group, their music brightened our Christmas assembly, the Spring Concert, and graduation.

The Future Farmers of America is a national organization of young people interested in farming which encourages improvement of farming techniques. Class-rooms have been brightened by the plants and flowers the club distributed this year.

As in years before, the Barnstable High School Band under the direction of Mr. Simon Gesin has lent color, show, and most of all, music to the football games, snake dances, assemblies, and other school activities.

Headed by the corps of majorettes, the band performed at the football games, marched in parades on Veterans' Day, and Memorial Day, and headed the parade for Santa Claus.

The music of our chorus this year truly surpassed that of any other time. Included in its activities were two concerts, one at the annual Christmas Assembly and the other a spring concert in May. Members of the chorus also took part in the New England Music Festival. One of the largest groups in the school, the chorus is directed by Mr. Simon Gesin, who has done an excellent job of organization and arrangements. There was also a group of girls to sing special a cappella arrangements, and a number of excellent solos and readings.

The Raid-iis

Among the new and different activities this year was the Journalism Class. This class, taught by Mrs. Catherine D. Towey, consisted of thirteen seniors. After studying all types of writing, these students put their knowledge into active use in another new enterprise the Raid-iis, Barnstable High's own page in the Patriot.

Trade School Student Council

The Barnstable Trade School now offers training in five fields—auto mechanics, boat building, carpentry, electrical work, and plumbing.

Since the Trade School is a separate school this year, a Student Council has been organized with one boy and an alternate from each trade and with Mr. Cameron and Mr. Welch as advisors.

FOOTBALL

It was a warm sunny day in September when coach MacSwan called together the football team for their first practice of the new season. Spirit was high and the promise of a good season was in the air. The team never lost this courageous spirit although the season was one of many heartbreaks.

Paul White and Bob Lebel were elected co-captains and did an exceptionally fine job in keeping the Raiders a well-knit unit throughout the season.

The first game resulted in a loss to Coyle by a score of 38-0. This beating should have been enough to discourage any team, but under the careful directions of Coach MacSwan and Assistant Coaches Donahue and Coggeshall, the team tried desperately to pull itself together.

The most important and exciting game of the season was the victory at Falmouth on Thanksgiving Day, 14-7. This rounded out the season with a two win and six loss record.

When, for the second year in a row, Coach Howes called for the soccer candidates, he was surprised at the small number who showed interest. In this courageous number there were very few boys who had had any previous soccer experience, but against these odds a team was successfully organized.

Gordon Nelson and Gordon Pyy were elected co-captains and led their team to a three win and five loss season.

Front: D. Richards, R. Lebel, E. Butler, G. Williams, C. Converse.

The Red Raiders, led by co-captains Ed Butler and Bob Lebel, did not have too successful a season. This was the first year that the basketball team has had the opportunity to play on a large floor. Perhaps this change in atmosphere could be partly responsible for the poor record.

Although the scores were poor, the season had its high points. The Red Raiders swamped Chatham twice and belted Falmouth in an exciting sudden death overtime. Another time that the Raiders were great was in Harwich when they were barely beaten by two points in a hotly contested game.

The won and loss record with each team is as follows: Orleans 0-1, Provincetown 0-2, Harwich 0-2, Chatham 2-0, Bourne 0-2, Falmouth 1-1, Yarmouth 0-2.

The Raiders closed their season with bright hopes for the future and elected George Williams to lead next year's team.

GIRLS' BASKETBALL

There it goes!

Barnstable High can be very proud of the excellent season the girls had. The team worked hard, and was rewarded for this work by winning second place in the large school league.

The most exciting and breath-taking game of the year was against our "rival" Yarmouth High. In a double over-time, the Raiderettes, working against the clock, beat the Yarmouth girls. While the entire team deserves credit, Pammy Little was the heroine of the afternoon when she swished in the ball that won the game. The final score was 30-28.

Miss Katherine Nehubian, coach, worked hard after school and during Christmas vacation with her team. Her work was rewarded in the fine season and fighting spirit of the Raiderettes.

Managers were Patricia Houle, Alice Howes, Sally Holmes, and Patricia Lovejoy.

This year's cheerleaders, under the capable direction of Mrs. Camille Beale, worked very diligently and did a terrific job. Many new cheers and routines were added to their repertoire.

Their bright red wool uniforms, with candy-striped cuffs and collars that looked good enough to eat, helped to pep up the team and the spectators at every game.

Boys' Ice Hockey

The boys on the ice hockey team deserve much credit. While this sport is not sponsored by the school, they have shown exuberance and spirit in their willingness to practice early in the morning. Mr. Jack Donahue is the coach.

This new sport at Barnstable High holds the only record in the school for an undefeated and un-scored-on season. The hockey team, which is two years old, is the youngest of the athletics sponsored by the school.
